Your discussion:
This stone-rich deposit is a dump layer possibly associated with building of tombs to the north of the structure. Contains a pos. sheet fall (32939) but this could also be a wall of some sort; observed only in section. This deposit must have been built up against the structure over time, once the complex had gone out of use. Contains a fair amount of chunky pottery, showing marks of burning + a lot of organic inclusions (large vessels, pos. zir, perhaps some bread moulds?)
